Map of schools and artist educators using AccessArt.

If you are a school, or an artist educator working within your community, either independently, with an organisation or within museum or gallery educational setting, and you feel aligned with the AccessArt values, we would love to include you on our Map (click the green button below below).

At AccessArt, we believe that shared experience and generosity of spirit are values that allow creativity to flourish in and around the world. As a grassroots organisation, we would like to make a difference in and around your local community, by connecting schools and local artist educators.

Please note that this map is in its early stages and so far represents only a small fraction of our 22,000+ schools (blue pins) and artist educator (red pins) members.

AccessArt does not vet or endorse any schools or practitioners on the map.
