

Alex Tunstall

“I enjoy music and drama. Both the digital and physical world contribute to my love of music: from listening to it and exploring composition digitally via Logix Pro X, through to learning to play a variety of instruments. In drama I enjoy the freedom to reinvent myself onstage and explore becoming different characters.

Often, I enjoy working alone when writing music, but I also enjoy the collaborative aspect of working creatively, so that I can share ideas with others who may feed my creativity.”

Alex is an original member of the #BeACreativeProducer Project.
